How to check in on someone

Helping others and providing support can make a difference for someone who is having problems and going through a tough time. If you think someone you care about isn't going so well, try the following tips on how to support them and continue to check in on them.

Talk

For most people, just asking if they are okay and listening can make a difference.

By simply being there for someone, they can feel less alone and more supported to open up and talk about how they are really feeling.

Asking open ended questions that require a response is a good way to start the conversation.

FOR EXAMPLE:

- How are you going? What's been happening in your life lately?
- You don't seem quite yourself lately, is something bothering you?
- You seem upset or worried, what's going on? Can I help with something?
- I've noticed you're not going out much lately, anything going on?

Listen

Just being there for someone and offering a listening ear can make a difference.

1. Show them that you care and are here to listen to them.
2. Have patience, let others talk and don't judge.
3. Be reflective by repeating what they have said.
4. Keep calm and accept that they may disagree with you.

Provide support

If the person you're concerned about is in a life threatening situation, or is at risk of harm to themselves or others, call 000.

Getting help early can make a difference. A good place to start is:

- Talk to your GP or someone you trust.
- Call a support line.
- Contact a support service.
- Try the Think Mental Health check-up tool.

They may also need your support while they look for professional help.

Do an activity together

Activities create conversation. Find an opportunity during everyday life activities to start the conversation and ask them how they are really feeling. Try doing activities together such as:

GOING FOR A WALK

GOING TO AN EVENT TOGETHER

GOING FOR A COFFEE
OR A MEAL

KICKING THE FOOTY,
PLAYING A GAME,
SURFING ETC

GOING FOR A DRIVE

ANYTHING THAT ENCOURAGES OR PROVIDES AN OPPORTUNITY TO HAVE A CHAT

Stop and Consider

During a federal election a lot of things are said and written about the voting process. Some of it may be false or misleading.

Stop and consider the content and source of what you see, hear or read about the process.

AI-generated text, images, video and audio could be used to try and deceive you about where to vote, how to complete ballot papers or why the process may not be trustworthy. Anyone can be affected.

Apply healthy scepticism. Check or ignore it, but don't share or repost. You can also report it to the place where you saw it. Support friends and family to do the same.

Australia has one of the most trusted electoral systems in the world. It belongs to voters and we all have a responsibility to protect it.

Don't risk what we have.

Check the content

Look for:

- words that cause strong feelings, like shock, anger or excitement
- a small number of choices being presented, instead of all of them
- blaming of a particular group or person who is not the only person/group responsible
- attacking a person rather than focusing on an argument.

Check the source

Ask yourself:

- Where did the information come from? Is it from a trustworthy place?
- Is it from Australia or overseas?
- Could it be AI? AI technology makes it easy to create false text, images, video and audio.
- Why was it published? Is there a reason that someone could be trying to convince you of something that isn't true?

Check our website

Get the true info:

- when to vote
- how votes are counted
- how a result is decided

Pioneers of Pilgarn

Stage 1.

Citizens who built this district between years 1887 and 1914

Priestly, Arthur: A champion athlete who came to Southern Cross in 1901 from Victoria. He worked on the mines. As well as a champion bike rider, he was also a handy footballer. Over any distance he won cycle events ridiculously easily.

Sporting events were popular in the goldfields and the only break from either working or sleeping, a diversion from normal hum-drum life.

Priestley went farming in the Merredin district and later was appointed manager of the State Farm at Merredin. His sons also took up cycling and were recognised amongst the State's leading riders.
